FEDS REVOLT IN MEXICO CAPITAL?

Refugees From Interior Predict Huerta's Downfall and Resulting Anarchy

PRESIDENT'S STATE REPORTED DESPERATE

No Question of Break Between Villa and Carranza—Former Wants Help

VERA CRUZ, June 30.—A general revolt by Huerta's troops in Mexico City and the president's downfall and flight with resulting anarchy in the capital, was freely predicted today by refugees from the interior. From all sides reports are reaching the capital of desertions of the federal troops. The publication of such stories is forbidden, but they are circulated by word of mouth. Nearly everyone knows that Huerta's situation is desperate, the refugees reported. One version of the federal defeat at Zacatecas says that 5000 federals mutinied, refusing to face the rebels.

Huerta is daily recalling his troops to the capital, leaving only the rurales guarding many places along the railway.

Foreigners in Mexico City are preparing for a possible uprising. Arms are ready at the German and British legations.

NO LONGER QUESTION OF VILLA-CARRANZA BREAK

TORREON, June 30.—There is no longer any question of a serious break between Villa and Carranza. Villa's refusal to fight until he is assured of military and financial support, has been confirmed. Carranza has notified Villa that he has sent a commission to Torreon for a conference which will probably be held here or at San Pedro Friday or Saturday. Villa's troops have been disposed here and at Zacatecas and Aguas Calientes.

GEN VILLA'S METHODS AT ZACATECAS BLOODILY EFFECTIVE
TORREON, June 30.—A bloody commentary of the effectiveness of Villa's methods in the battle of Zacatecas was continued today in reports by railroad men who declare that Gen. Barron, who commanded the federals, reached Aguas Calientes with but fourteen men. Barron was wounded in the leg.

According to these reports only 300 were accounted for as entirely escaping the rebels' fire. Five thousand were taken prisoner. Since the garrison consisted of 14,000 to 18,000, it is believed the majority of the remaining 8000 or 10,000 were killed or wounded, or escaped across the country in the rout following the battle.

REPORT OF VILLA'S CAMPAIGN SUSPENSION IS CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The rebel junta today confirmed the news of the suspension of Villa's campaign but denied that it was on account of the shortage of ammunition. The supply was ample, they said.

HUERTA DRINKING AGAIN; HE MAY FLEE AT ANY TIME

VERA CRUZ, June 30.—British refugees arriving here today said that army cabinet officers are generally refusing any longer to obey Huerta, who has resumed drinking. They believe the end is near. They expect Huerta to flee at any time.

Trans-Atlantic Airship Carries Ten Passengers

HAMMONDSPOUT, N. Y., June 30.—America, the Rodman Wanamaker trans-Atlantic flyer, rose from the water last night with ten passengers, establishing another weight-carrying record for hydro-aeroplanes.

The flight was not an extended one—in fact, it was not intended by Lieut. Porte, who had invited the special correspondents of the New York, Boston and London dailies to take a "taxi" ride on the water.

While planning along at flying speed the America struck a swell which bounced her into the air for the better part of a hundred yards. Lieut. Porte said he could have flown at any time, but had no intention of doing so with any such cargo.

Weather conditions continued most discouraging, a thirty-mile wind and intermittent showers prevailing all day. Glenn Curtiss would not have permitted the America to leave the shore last night but for his anxiety to test out the new hydro boards. After waiting all day he declared for a run in the evening, "rain, shine or cyclone."

"The 'useful' load carried last night was more than 1700 pounds, or about 300 more than previously carried. Porte started out with a useful load of a ton, but after a short run he put off one passenger who weighed more than 200 pounds.

HOME ON SOUTH SAFETY AT SEA MAIN STREET ROBBED UP BEFORE CONGRESS

Burglars Stole Jewelry at Residence of Dr. and Mrs. Whitted

IMITATION GEMS WERE NOT TAKEN

Entrance Gained Through Window the Burglar Found Unlocked

Dr. Roscoe Whitted's home at 406 Main street was entered by burglars last night and a quantity of jewelry taken. Dr. and Mrs. Whitted were away from home between 7:30 and 9 o'clock and it was during this period that the robbery occurred. A string of genuine coral beads, a gold watch, a number of rings and bracelet were stolen.

Dr. Whitted, upon his return home noticed that the front door was ajar. A brief examination of the premises convinced Dr. Whitted that the burglars had affected an entrance through a window on the north side of the house. This window had not been locked.

The burglary had evidently been committed by professionals, or by persons familiar with the value of jewelry, as several imitation gems were left untouched. As far as Dr. Whitted could learn no clothing was taken. The robbers did not disturb or disarrange anything.

Representative Bryan Submits Minority Report on Seamen's Labor Bill

SPEAKER OPPOSES ALL COMPROMISE

Not Creditable for Congress to Pass Any Such Measure, Bryan Says

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Safety at sea and on the great lakes came up before Congress again this afternoon when Representative Bryan of Washington submitted a minority report on the Alexander seamen's labor bill.

In attacking the Alexander bill, reported favorably by the House Merchant Marine Committee, Bryan declared:

"This House cannot afford to surrender its views on shipping to the English shippers. The real friends of American shipping should oppose the compromising of the principles of the La Follette bill for purposes of expediency. The proposed bill does not pretend to prescribe safety provisions for foreign vessels in American ports. This means that the bill if enacted into law is to effect only a small percentage of vessels that carry American passengers to and from American ports."

"In the great lakes vessels from Chicago and other American ports to Canadian ports are not to be in any way affected by the bill as to safety at sea. Vessels whose course of travel is within twenty miles of shore are to have thirty-seven and one-half percent life boats, thirty-seven and one-half life rafts and no protection whatever for the remaining percentage of passengers. And those vessels which sail within twenty miles of shore furnish by far the greatest number of wrecks and the largest toll of disaster. On the great lakes vessels which sail within three miles of shore are not affected by the lifeboat provisions of the bill."

"I do not believe it would be creditable for Congress to pass any such measure as this as a response to a demand for safety at sea."

"The bill attempts to enact many of the provisions of the London convention which ought not to be put into permanent law, but should be used by the Department of Commerce for advisory purposes in making regulations. 'The London convention contains many jokers. For almost every definite provision there is a joker or proviso that gives leeway for interpretation and escape of liability.'"

A Course In Matrimony

A course in matrimony? Why laugh at it? There is no limit to the many systems for attaining heaven hereafter, and we accept them in all seriousness—then why not a system for gaining heaven here?

A professor in the University of Kansas proposes "a course preparatory to matrimony," and a rude guffaw sounds from one end of the country to the other.

Why do we laugh?

Because divorce has become so easy and common that the very idea of happy marriage is itself a joke?

Any lawyer at all can pilot one to divorce. It should not seem impossible nor preposterous that there are advisers who can point out the formula for a happy married life.

The bishop of Ripon has lamented that England has no schools for engaged couples. In France the government presents each bride and bridegroom with a booklet of advice about family matters. Even our own late President Roosevelt now and then lightened his leisure by semi-officially pointing out the path of duty to mothers.

So the idea of instruction in matrimony is not so new and strange as the thoughtless seem to suppose.

Unfortunately, it is a delicate subject for teaching. There can be no legitimate instruction until there are recognized instructors. And where are they?

Those who have had the highest success in marriage hold the fewest theories about it.

Those who fluently express decided opinions on the subject are the unmarried.

And those who have been most married encounter a distinct prejudice and are not encouraged to parade their experiences.

The novel plan is the great directing and molding agency in most of our emotion, particularly with women. But the typical novel of a generation ago ended with happy marriage, while the typical novel of today begins with a situation that has made a marriage unhappy and a failure. So, in this important matter, fiction furnishes little real instruction.

Happy and successful marriage is either the most complicated and difficult question in the world—or else it is the simplest.

Without true love, that simplifies all things, overcomes all things and endures all things, all the philosophy of the ages is of no avail.

But with true love, the faintest cooing of an infant fills a home with sweetest music and the light in trusting eyes illumines the world with infinite wisdom.

WHITE MILE OF MT. LASSEN IS AGAIN IN ACTION WOMEN IN PARADE

Suffragettes March to White House to Present Vote Demands to President

WASHINGTON, June 30.—A "mile of women" in white gowns, shoes, hats and parasols marched to the White House today to present to the president the resolutions demanding votes for women which were adopted at a recent meeting of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago.

The leaders admitted they chose today because the House rules committee meets tomorrow and that they hope that the committee will pass the rule permitting the consideration of the suffrage amendment at the same time as has been scheduled for the prohibition amendment.

PRESIDENT SAID SUFFRAGE FOR STATES TO DECIDE

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The President told the 700 suffragettes today that he believes that woman suffrage is a matter for the states and not the federal government to decide. The delegation that brought the petition asking for suffrage from the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Chicago convention, heard the statement. When the women began to "heckle" him because of his opinion, he turned abruptly and left the east room where he had received them, leaving the women gazing in open-mouthed astonishment.

STREET RIOT RAGES IN MOSTAR

Herzegovinan Capital Scene of Battle Between Serbs, Croats and Mohammedans

RESULT OF SUNDAY'S ASSASSINATION

Bodies of Archduke Francis and Consort Arrive at Metkovich, Dalmatia

BUDAPEST, June 30.—More than 200 were killed or wounded today at Mostar, the capital of Herzegovina, in a fierce street battle between Servians, Croats and Mohammedans. The battle was a result of Sunday's assassination at Sarajevo of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir apparent to the Austrian throne.

Later reports, although unconfirmed, said that Mostar was afire. Dispatches said that the Croats were the aggressors. The mob invaded the Servian section crying "Death to the Servians!"

The Serbs resisted and were more than holding their own until the Croats were reinforced by other mobs. The fighting raged on the streets and house-tops, stopping only when the combatants were driven before the flames that started from a score of houses.

At the last reports to the Budapest Herald, a daily paper, were to the effect that fire was still raging.

At a dozen villages throughout Bosnia there is reported to be fighting between Serbs and Mohammedan protagonists.

BODIES ARRIVE AT METKOVIATCH, DALMATIA

TRAIN CARRIES TWIN CASKETS TO YACHT DALMAT

But for the tolling of bells a profound silence was observed by bared thousands as the twin caskets were carried by a railway train to the yacht Dalmat, aboard which the Count of Attems, Viceroy of Dalmatia, waited. The yacht descended the Narenta river, peasants from all the villages en route lining the banks, kneeling with lighted candles, while the village priests blessed the corpses as they passed.

At the river's mouth the caskets were transferred to the dreadnaught Virbusinitis, placed on the quarter deck, and the voyage to Trieste was begun.

AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT CONCERNED AT HERZEGOVINIAN RIOT

VIENNA, June 30.—It is admitted that the government is seriously concerned at the disorders at Herzegovina, Bosnia. There is no blinking at the fact that the conditions are serious but the officials here profess to believe there will be no general revolt. There is an unconfirmed report current that the foreign office demanded an investigation by the Servian government of the story that the assassination plot was hatched at Belgrade. The newspapers here denounced the Servians in the strongest terms.

VIENNA, June 30.—Emperor William of Germany will attend the Archduke Francis Ferdinand's funeral personally. He will be the only monarch present. On account of Francis Joseph's advanced age the councilors feared the strain of the presence of too much royalty. The other European courts will be officially represented by delegations. Emperor Francis Joseph will not attend the funeral. He will view the corpse privately.

CZAR'S FAMILY, WHICH AN ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO ASSASSINATE WITH A BOMB

Another attempt to kill Czar Nicholas of Russia and all his family has just been made. The czar and his family were returning to their summer palace from a visit to King Charles of Roumania at Kuetendje by train. A bomb was placed on the track exploded beneath it. The Czar's train was just behind.

The train ahead was wrecked. After the explosion the czar's train was held while secret service men and Cossacks from the royal trains went through the countryside looking for the perpetrators of the outrage. The search was without result. The Czarina, who has been in a constant nightmare of terror, collapsed utterly when she learned how near she and her family had been to death. Efforts to discover the perpetrators of the plot are being made with the greatest secrecy. It is believed that high officials were concerned, as the plans of the Czar were changed at the last moment and a route taken entirely different from the one originally planned.

HIS LOVE FOR HER AT STAKE

Young Crawford Making Fight for Right to Marry and Be Missionary

The Los Angeles courts are having a hard time convincing Lester Crawford that he does not want to marry. Young Crawford's home is in Pasadena, but he has lived several months at a time on his father's 1000-acre ranch at El Modena. Concerning the latest developments in the young man's difficulties, the Los Angeles Times says:

"I would rather share a tent in the desert with Laura than live in splendor without her. I love her more than I do money. I am going to be a missionary."

Lester Crawford, madly infatuated with Miss Laura Koppe, whose soul outshines her physical deformity, uttered these words with the conviction of a youth of 19 years.

He was the prize for which his father, Francis E. Crawford, a wealthy real estate man of Pasadena, and Attorney Carter and former Judge Rossiter contended in the Probate Court yesterday. Attorney Rossiter wants

Chief of Police McIntyre of Pasadena appointed the youth's guardian. Mr. Crawford desires no other guardian than himself.

The legal fight developed a scientific analysis of love, described in young Crawford's case as erotomania or religious insanity. Lester's kaleidoscope career since his tendency toward Miss Koppe developed into a desire to run away with her, was checked by his commitment to a sanatorium. His escape and his subsequent

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALL OVER ORANGE COUNTY

By R. W. Rose, the Register's Circuit Rider.

Balboa people are making comprehensive plans for entertaining a large number of visitors on the Fourth, and a record-breaking crowd is expected. Nearly the entire cottage and apartment capacity has been reserved from Friday night to Monday morning, and the summer colony is on the ground, or will be, before the week end. Several new apartment houses and a number of cottages have been erected this spring and the capacity for entertainment of visitors has been increased about 500, yet there will be an active demand for all accommodations.

An ambitious program has been prepared for the "day we celebrate," and today the Balboa boosters and Newport Beach hustlers, in a dozen autos, have invaded the various towns of the county to let the people know what's doing. Their mission is to make much noise and pass out printed programs setting forth the various events.

Santa Ana Concert band of 22 pieces will furnish music, morning, afternoon and evening. There will be a number of races for prizes in the morning on the beach near the pier. In the afternoon the bay will be the scene of many interesting aquatic events including rowing, canoeing and tub races, with swimming and diving contests for substantial prizes.

Orange county folk who design to spend a portion of their vacation season at this delightful section of the beach would do well to negotiate at once for apartments of cottages for the demand is already active and insistent. It will be a banner season.

quint forced stay with a temporary guardian have only made him the more determined to thwart his father's will.

He said his father offered him $50,000, a motor car and a trip to Honolulu or New York.

"I want only Laura," was his response to these glittering offers. Alleged threats of disinheritance failed to check the youth. It was a missionary life and Laura.

Mr. Crawford told of his son's escapades; his refusal to give up Laura, and quietly, firmly declared that his son was out of his head. In other words, he is in the fool age and would grow sane if sent away. Dr. T. W. Bishop described the peculiar ailment of Lester. Judge Rives continued the case until this morning.

BEAVER AND TIGER BATTLE FOR LEAD

Pacific Coast League Leaders Meet at Portland This Week

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Pacific Coast league interest centered this week in the meeting at Portland of the climbing Portland club and Venice, the league leaders. Portland is fresh from a week's conquest in Los Angeles, while the Tigers have taken 9 out of 13 games played thus far on their trip on the road. A series victory for Portland is likely to send the Beavers into the first division.

At Los Angeles, the Angels and the trailing Oaks will tangle in an eight-game series. A double-header will be played July 4. On their present form, Oakland should, by losing, boost the Angels a trifle toward the top.

San Francisco's Independence Week baseball will be furnished by the Seals and Wolverton's Sacramento club, which at last appears to have struck its stride. Sacramento has a fair chance of pulling San Francisco back into the second division by a decisive victory in the week's play.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Catcher Jack Bliss of the Venice Tigers was fined $20 yesterday by President A. T. Baum for misconduct in Sunday's game on the San Francisco grounds.

ORANGE ALUMNI HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Two Grammar School Teachers Have Resigned to Teach Elsewhere

(By Staff Correspondent)
ORANGE, June 30.—The annual banquet of the Orange High School Alumni Association was held last evening at the high school building. A large attendance of the old and new "grads" mingled pleasantly in what proved to be a brilliant affair. Miss Vera Johnson acted as toast-mistress at the banquet, and opened the program with an address of welcome to the class of 1914. Herbert Bierwagon gave a speech of response in behalf of his class. M. M. Fishback responded to a toast on "The Faculty," and Earl Campbell to one on "The Old Alumni." The program also included a piano solo by Ruth Benson and a song by Mrs. Walter Kogler entitled "Spring's Invitation." Miss Florence Flippin gave a toast on "High School and College," and the class of 1914 entertained their predecessors with a collection of lutey class songs and yells. Decker's catered to the banquet.

In the election of officers a change from the usual custom of selecting them from the newest graduating class was made. Earl Campbell was elected president; Miss Owen Murray, vice-president, and Miss May Peterkin, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee was named as Glenn Shoemaker, 1912; Vida Morrison, 1914, and Mrs. E. B. Peers. The committee was instructed to draft a new constitution for the governing of the association.

Following the banquet at the high school, many of the alumni attended a dance at the K. of P. hall.

Two local grammar school teachers have resigned their positions here to accept more promising locations elsewhere.

Miss Essie Jones has accepted a position as principal in her home city in Idaho. Harold H. Campbell, who has been principal of Center Street School, has taken a position at Banning, which includes the principalship and instruction of manual training at a salary of $1400 per year. The new position is a distinct advance for Mr. Campbell and is very gratifying to his local friends, in spite of their regret at losing him.

Numerous changes in the Orange High School faculty were announced following a meeting of the High School Board yesterday.

Two new positions have been added for next year, one of which has already been filled. Carl H. Pettit of Whittier has been elected teacher of mechanical drawing to assist Mr. Forbes in the manual training department. The other new position, which is oral expression and coach of girls' athletics, remains to be filled.

The resignation of Miss Agnes Ralph from the Science department left a vacancy which was filled by E. W. Denny of Seattle and Berkeley.

Mr. George H. Adriansen of Turlock has been elected teacher of music in place of Miss Winnifred Haig, who resigned.

Charles E. Teach of Berkeley, who has been six years at the University of Nebraska, comes to Orange next year as instructor of mathematics and boys' athletics, in place of Ira L. Jones, who has resigned.

An automobile procession of boosters passed through here today, advertising the Fourth of July celebration at Newport Beach and Balboa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Berries, who moved to this city from Imperial a few weeks ago and purchased the C. A. Mitchell home in Nutwood place, were the recipients of a surprise party last Saturday evening which was given as a house warming for them.

A very delightful dinner was served, the menu including such tempting dishes as fried chicken and combination salad.

Musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, were added features of entertainment.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Berries, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blachford and family, of Garden Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calkins of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Marie Cahoon.

Miss Amy Westcott returned today to San Diego after visiting since Friday with friends in Orange. She attended the alumni banquet at the high school last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Terry and family returned Sunday from a trip to San Diego by automobile. They motored down the coast route and returned over the inland road, visiting Escondido and other intervening points.

Harold Riley of Los Angeles was here to attend the annual alumni banquet at the high school last evening.

Henry Grote has returned from the California Hospital in Los Angeles, where he spent six weeks following an operation. He is very much improved and is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Huhn are taking a two weeks' vacation. They spent several days at Modjeska's and are now at Santa Barbara on a motor trip.

Mrs. Burleigh Keiser returned home to Los Angeles today after being here to attend the alumni banquet at the high school last evening.

Miss Merle Williams returned home yesterday from Hollywood, where she visited over Sunday.

Mrs. B. C. Cory returned from Calexico this morning, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Will Park, Jr., and baby. Mrs. Park will remain here through the summer.

DISTILLATE TANK EXPLODES AS JAP LIGHTED A MATCH

FULLERTON, June 30.—Taro Igane, a Jap, who has a chicken ranch and pumping plant southeast of town, looked into a 250-gallon barrel of distillate Sunday to see how much of the fluid was in it. He could not see well so he lighted a match and held it over the opening in the tank. There was a terrific explosion and the Jap was blown a distance of twenty-five feet, but was not injured. The pump house caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by neighbors after a part of the plant had burned down. The engine and pump were saved. The damage is only a few hundred dollars.

The injured list has dwindled from 3893 in 1903 to 1131 in 1913.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark;
Glossy, Thick

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, while his quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the muggy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called “Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy” for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Advertisement.

ALUMNI INITIATE BONDS FOR NEW UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS

BERKELEY, June 30.—That through initiative proceedings the people of California should be asked to vote approval for a bond issue of $1,800,000 for permanent buildings for the University of California, has been decided by the Alumni Association of the University of California.

Petitions are being circulated by the alumni calling for the placing on the ballot at the general election in November of an initiative measure authorizing this bond issue. Blank petitions can be obtained from the secretary of the Alumni Association of the University of California, Berkeley. They should be returned with the signatures, in July.

The permanent buildings the alumni have decided to ask the state to provide for the University are a new Agricultural building, to accommodate some of the 500 students in that rapidly-growing college and to house the work of the agricultural experts who are yearly adding to the annual production of California farms many times the amount of this whole proposed bond issue; a chemistry building—the present chemical laboratories, built to accommodate three hundred students, are now used to teach more than two thousand; an addition to complete the new University Library—first occupied two years ago; the library's storage capacity of 300,000 volumes is already overtaxed and there is not enough room to hold the readers; and a large new classroom building, to replace the decrepit old firetrap, North Hall. Since the students are increasing by one-sixth per annum, this classroom building is a most urgent need. Long ago the classroom facilities were exhausted, and new classes are meeting in cellars, attics, and out-of-doors, for lack of proper rooms.

The twelve thousand alumni and five thousand students have set to work to make the people of California realize the grievous inadequacy of the present building equipment of the University of California. While only one other American University, the Alumni Association points out, has as many students as the University of California, and while no other excels it in standards and excellence of work, there is not another university of importance in the country whose buildings are so poor and cheap in construction, so exposed to fire risk, so out-of-date and worn out as are all but a few of the buildings on the campus.

Of permanent buildings on the Berkeley campus there are only five. Of the rest, most are built lightly and of wood, while the few that have exterior walls of brick or plaster have framework, floors, and partitions of wood. Immensely valuable scientific collections and the class work of thousands of students are housed in such buildings as these.

Through private generosity a beginning was made some years ago in the erection of permanent buildings. The five buildings thus far built in accordance with the Hearst Plan are fireproof, of the highest type in plan and construction, and unexcelled among university buildings anywhere in beauty, usefulness, and perfect suitability for their purposes. These permanent buildings are the Hearst Memorial Mining Building, given by Mrs. Inoebie Apperson Hearst, at a cost, including equipment, of $700,000; the new University Library, built at a cost of $653,000, from money bequeathed by Charles Franklin Doe; Boalt Hall of Law, for which Mrs. Boalt gave $100,000 and the lawyers of California $50,000 more; and two buildings built by the state: California Hall, a classroom building which cost $271,000, and the first unit of the agricultural group, which cost $212,000.

Of the total that has been spent on the campus in the past forty years for buildings, private generosity has given two-thirds, the people of California, through state support, only one-third.

Mrs. Hearst personally has spent twice as much for permanent buildings for the University as has the state itself.

Including what Mrs. Hearst has given for buildings and for the museum, this one good citizen has from her private purse expended more than the vast, populous, and wealthy state of California has given to the University for buildings, permanent or temporary, in the fifty years since California chartered its state university.

The general election next fall, says the Alumni Association, will determine whether the people of California realize the enormous service the University of California is rendering to the education, the agriculture, the engineering, the industry, the culture, and the life of California, and will determine whether the university is to have the classrooms and laboratories it must possess to do adequately its great work for the people of California.

When President Wheeler came to the University of California, there were fifty-two class rooms and 2500 students. There are now but sixty-eight class rooms and about 7000 students. It therefore is evident why the Alumni Association is asking the people to support the present bond issue.

“BULL DOESN'T GET A FAIR CHANCE,” GENERAL FUNSTON

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD. (Written for the United Press.)

VERA CRUZ, June 20.—By Mail to New York.—“The bull doesn't get a fair chance,” was the reason which General Funston gave for prohibiting bull fighting in Vera Cruz. It's a thoroughly good American reason. Here's an instance of how Americans here agree with the fair fighting little brigadier from Kansas:

As soon as bull fighting ceased a quick-brained, money-mad little Spaniard, who runs a theater in a big frame building here dug up a moving picture film which had been taken at the height of the season in the great bull ring at Madrid. Five of the greatest bull fighters in the world—Pastor and Gaona, Mexican idols, included—were shown killing one bull each. Each bull in turn was shown on the screen in the act of killing six or eight splendid horses. The many Americans in the audience, on the first night, were sickened with disgust. The Spanish and Mexican trick of permitting a bull to toss a heavy horse about on its horns, until it is tired out, was soon spotted by the American beholders. They saw that each “valiant” matador, just before the final thrust, was facing, not a wild ferocious bull but a pitifully exhausted and weak wreck that could harm no one. They realized in full, what Funston meant when he said, “The bull hasn't a chance.”

The film showed the sixth bull entering the ring, to be faced by the great Spanish fighter Fuentes. And, several printed lines were thrown on the screen, explaining that the next view would show how Fuentes had been terribly injured by the bull. An odd murmur ran through the audience. It was pay night and many soldiers were in the crowd. The picture was resumed. The bull approached the matador; the matador slipped; the bull caught him, in the stomach, with his horns; it ran about the ring, shaking the “hero” like a rag. Some one in the rear clapped. Some one near him joined him. In a minute the clapping was general. “Three cheers for the bull,” yelled an army captain. There were fifty cheers. The picture whirled along; Fuentes was shown being flung through the air, a senseless heap; a dozen “valiant” bull-fighters were shown rushing for the fence with the bull after them, like a summer girl fleeing from a cow. The cheering became wild.

Suddenly a soldier grabbed a Mexican by the nap of the neck, stood him on his feet and then knocked him down. “The son of a gun was hissing the bull,” he explained to a comrade as the lights went on.

Hearing From the Wives

The wife of a naval officer at League Island, Philadelphia, declares that the new order of things will mean an annual saving of hundreds of dollars to the average officer. "It was getting so," she says, "that the moment anybody stepped aboard a war vessel to see an officer the first words to greet him would be, 'What are you going to drink?' And the cost came out of the officer's pocket. This wife says she knows of officers who are deeply in debt for the simple reason that they are trying to keep up appearances by entertaining. Her conclusion is that 'there is positively too much hospitality in the navy. The officers' wives could put the money to better use.' No doubt naval officers will be relieved from a considerable financial burden. But will they turn over the saving to their wives?—The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

THREE BOYS ON RAMPAGE AT BEACH

Chewing Gum, Chinese Gin and Money Taken by the Trio

Three Los Angeles boys are in the Detention Home here as the result of depredations, burglaries and other troubles stirred up by them at Seal Beach yesterday. The boys are John Neagles, aged 13, of 258 South Olive street; Lloyd O'Donnell, 14, of 4208 Linna, and Charles Utting, 15, of 516 South Figueroa.

The story of their visit to Seal Beach and Anaheim Landing, as secured by Under Sheriff Law, is as follows:

They first visited the store of O. O. Richardson at Seal Beach, and they laid in a supply of gum for their excursion. A lock was broken off a bunk wagon belonging to Dick Neimeit. The wagon was ransacked and a purse taken. This purse, empty, was found by the officers near the place. Another bunk wagon nearby was entered.

The visits came to an end at Carl Shepan's house. There the youngsters found a jug of Chinese gin and $6 in coin. Shepan returned home while the boys were still in the house. One of them seized a double-barreled shotgun that was standing in a corner and struck Shepan on the shoulder. The boys then ran.

Deputy Sheriff Havens rounded up two of the boys, John Neagles and Charles Utting. John was intoxicated.

Under Sheriff Law and Deputy Glover started from Santa Ana for Seal Beach. As they were entering the place they met Lloyd O'Donnell, and took him into custody. The three boys are now in the Detention Home here. Law has learned that the youngsters have been in trouble in Los Angeles.

DYER'S TRIAL SET JULY 20

Two Calgary Witnesses Were Unable to Be Present Today

Attorneys Weisel & Dutton of Anaheim, representing Dyer, protested against the continuance, but the showing of the prosecution was sufficient to secure the order. Dyer is charged with felony, his accuser being his step-daughter, Hester Butler. The jury that first tried him disagreed.

HE MAY RUN FOR CONGRESS AS REPUBLICAN

J. P. Bernhard of Fresno Probably Will Be Church's Opponent

FRESNO, June 30.—A number of Republicans of Fresno have started a movement to induce J. P. Bernhard, a well known local attorney, to become a candidate for Congress in the Seventh District. Bernhard has been approached by several in the past few days and urged to make the race and he has taken the matter under serious consideration.

It is hinted in some quarters that Bernhard will be acceptable to the Progressives, even though he should make the race as a Republican, and that he will receive Progressive support, even to the extent of giving to him the Progressive nomination, as well as the Republican nomination. Bernhard has long been in close touch with local political matters and has a great many friends, both among

It was the second feminine invasion of this kind within a few months. Its leaders admitted that they had picked their time, because tomorrow the Rules committee meets. They hoped this body would pass a suffrage rule, along with the schedule business of considering the prohibition rule. They urged President Wilson to see that the committee took such action.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the famous pure food expert, headed the delegation. She appeared in the role of head of the District of Columbia Branch of the Federation of Women's clubs, which federation recently endorsed the votes-for-women cause. ### JEWISH LEADERS CONFER IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—Leaders of the Jewish faith in America assembled today in Detroit to attend the nine-day conference of the Central Branch of American Rabbis. The meeting is in commemoration of a quarter century of organization. Questions of great importance to ministers and laity of the Jewish faith are to be discussed during the conference. Recent progress in religious education, the divorce laws, a comparison of religious and civil marriages, use of the Bible as a text book in the religious schools and relations between the synagogue and its members are among the subjects to be considered. Formal opening of the conference will occur tonight in the Temple Beth El, when Rabbi Leo M. Franklin, pastor, will give the address of welcome. Rabbi Moses J. Gries, of Cleveland, president of the conference, will then deliver his annual message.

PENSIV SPORTSMEN MEET IN SMOKY CITY

PITTSBURG, June 30.—Canoe racing, revolver and rifle shooting, powerboat races, fly and bait casting and a number of other sports were on the card of the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, who convened here more than 2,000 strong today. The sessions continue tomorrow and Thursday. Discussion of fish and game laws and suggestions for improving them to meet new conditions is a regular part of the organization's work.

MRS. MORGAN HEARS MINER'S TESTIMONY

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Mrs. Ida Morgan, the widow of "Gold Dust" Morgan, listened today to the testimony of Robert Lithgow, her former employee, who appeared in the $50,000 alienation of affections suit brought against her by Mrs. Morris O. Budd of Long Beach. Lithgow declared that he went to Mrs. Morgan's room in her desert house at Cima with Budd and that she and Budd kissed and embraced in an unconventional manner. Lithgow left them together. Later, according to Lithgow's testimony, Mrs. Morgan sent him to Mrs. Budd to say that she would never see Budd again and would pay $20,000 if the affair were kept quiet. Mrs. Budd refused to consider the matter until she consulted her attorney, according to Lithgow. The defense will allege a blackmail plot.

Republicans and Progressives.

A meeting of Republicans of the Seventh Congressional District is expected to be held some time this week for the purpose of inducing a man to run for Congress against Denver S. Church, the Democratic incumbent, and it was said yesterday that it was not altogether impossible that Bernhard could be induced to make the race at that time.

The San Francisco Examiner last Saturday published a very interesting story about Congressman Church and what it claimed was evidence of his ability to shift from one side to the other.

"As Church was ridiculously on both sides of the fight for Hetch Hetchy, and as he fell down on California in the matter of Panama canal tolls, the 'dope sheet' would seem to show him an easy man to beat," says the Examiner.

"An amusing story is told of his change of front on the tolls question, and sheds much light on the way President Wilson won over the necessary voters to put through his railroad-British policy. The story was told as follows by a San Franciscan recently returned from Washington: "When the tolls fight was on in the house, we counted for a time on Church, as he knew the sentiment of California in the matter. But he wouldn't declare himself flatly our way. "At that time he had a hot fight on his hands over the Bakersfield post office. James D. Phelan had butted in on the fight and with his San Francisco organ was opposing Church's man. Phelan had a way of monkeying with the California postoffice scraps, and he was known to be close to the administration; so Church was a good deal worried over the Bakersfield outcome. "Well, one day Postmaster General

WILL UNVEIL A STATUE OF NOTED PADRE

Father St. John O'Sullivan
Has Arranged for Unique Event

On Nov. 24 of this year an unique ceremony is to take place in the yard of the San Juan Capistrano mission. Upon that day a statue of a group including Father Junipero Serra, foremost of the Franciscans who established the missions among the Indians of California. The mission was founded in 1776. The statue will face south, looking down the old Camino Real, toward San Luis Rey and San Diego.

The monument will consist of a life-sized group cast in cement and resting on a pedestal designed after one of the mission columns. The model for the group is now nearing completion and work on the pedestal is well under way. The sculptor, John P. Van Rensselaer of San Francisco, in order to put into effect his best efforts, decided to do the modeling at the mission itself, and with that end in view chose the famous old comedor as his studio, where he enjoys the advantages of quiet and uninterrupted work and the inspiration derived from the environment and the associations of the historic surroundings of the mission, which 138 years ago was the scene of Father Serra's work.

Group Well Designed
In the group every part is full of meaning and tells its story eloquently. As you face it, Father Serra occupies the central position. He stands with his left arm around the shoulders of an Indian boy about 10 years of age, and his right raised in a manner to direct attention to the cross at his side. The eyes of the boy, who clings to the father with his right arm, are fixed wonderingly on the sign of salvation, and Fray Junipero, having just made known the mystery of the redemption, contemplates the upturned face of the young gentile as if to learn if the pupil shows signs of understanding the simple but portentous lesson just imparted to him. In his left hand the boy holds listlessly his bow and arrows, the signs

GIRL'S DEATH PUZZLES POLICE OF BALTIMORE

The Baltimore police and many thousands of persons of the city are aroused over the mysterious death of Miss Ella G. Winter, a pretty stenographer, whose body was found in Curtis Creek, near the city.

That the girl was murdered and her body thrown into the water is now accepted as a fact. All doubt on this score was removed from the minds of the detectives by the identification of a hat picked up in Curtis Creek a half mile above the spot where the body was discovered as the property of the girl and by the report of autopsy physicians that there was not enough water in the lungs to admit of a theory of drowning.

It is pretty clear to all now that the young stenographer was murdered during the drizzling rain of the night following her disappearance from home on Thursday, June 4, and her body thrown either into Curtis Creek or into the bay half a mile below. The discovery of the hat in the creek supports the theory that those waters received the body from the hands of the slayer. The police say that the hat could not have been carried so far up the bay by the slight tidal swell, and the wind of the night in question, they contend, was not sufficiently strong to have blown it there.

of the savage state in which he was found, and which he will presently discard. The features of Father Serra's face are expressive of refinement, gentleness and manliness, besides reflecting the intensely religious feeling that dwelt in his soul.

Not only is the spirit of Father Serra expressed in the figure, but his appearance as well.

Mr. Van Rensselaer is using as his guide the authoritative copper engraving of Father Serra found by the Rev. Zephyrin Engelhardt at the College of San Fernando, Mexico, the mother house whence issued Father Serra and his companions. Shown as a man about 55, his age when he arrived in California, the characteristics of his face are the firm but gentle expression of the mouth, the refinement of the forehead, aggressiveness in the somewhat aquiline nose, and the religious thoughtfulness of the eyes. For the picture, Father Engelhardt had a recent confirmation relative to its authenticity, so that it will be particularly gratifying to have both the spirit of Father Serra's life work and his facial appearance perpetuated to memory.

Monument Donated
The group is donated by the Rev. John O'Sullivan, who has been at the mission during the past four years, as resident priest. The pedestal, now in course of construction, is being put up by residents of San Juan Capistrano. Cement for the work has been donated by the Riverside Portland Cement Company.

Two tablets will be placed on the pedestal. The one in front will contain an appropriate inscription commemorative of Father Serra, and the one at the back of the pedestal will hold a facsimile of Father Serra's entry in a book of the time recording his founding of the Mission of San Juan Capistrano.

The unveiling of the tablets is planned for the 201st anniversary of the birth of Father Serra, November 24, of this year.

ARE DEALING WITH PRESENT DAY PROBLEMS

Christian Endeavor Society of Presbyterian Church Discusses Conditions

A very interesting and rather unique meeting was held by the C. E. Society of the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening. Herbert Rankin, a very capable leader, had the meeting well planned. The subject was "Civic Reforms That Endeavorers Should Promote," reference Isaiah 1:10-20.

The meeting opened with a ten-minute song service. There had been placed in the hands of those present a list of subjects to be discussed such as "Dethroning of the Liquor Traffic," "Closing Moving Picture Shows and Theaters on Sundays," "Prevention of Minors Obtaining Cigarettes," "Insanitary Conditions," "Blind Pigs" and "What to do with the Man and Woman who Will not Vote When They Can."

A jury of five was appointed by the leader to hear the discussions and bring in a verdict of how much work the C. E. was doing to further the cause of righteousness in public life in the community.

The meeting was then thrown open to all. Harry Lewis spoke on "What to do With Man and Woman who Will not Vote When They Can." He said that the remedy of disfranchising often suggested would not be satisfactory as the indifferent person might not care if he did lose his voting privilege, but a better way would be to do some personal work.

"Everyone has a point of interest if we can only find it," said he. "Begin by getting him registered. Take him to vote if necessary. There is no better way for us to show our loyalty to a good cause than to be willing to work for it, especially in a quiet way, and we must always remember that the evil forces are never idle. We should all get into politics in a simple way and help to keep them clean and straight. Public sentiment is one of our strongest forces and we should all be eager and willing to create a good one."

Mr. Lewis suggested that it might be a good thing for the Endeavorers to canvass the church roll and see that every one is registered.

Will Ritner, Charles Tidball and Mrs. Morrow spoke interestingly concerning night schools for the foreigners, the importance of them and the splendid work they are doing. The best way to influence the votes of these people is by the education they are getting daily and ideals of American life that are being instilled into them every day.

"Why do we leave the foreigner to fall into the hands of the liquor element and then assume that he is most often on the wrong side of moral interest?" was asked.

"Are we doing everything we can to create in him high ideals of citizenship which in the end will control his vote?"

Donald Stevenson told of the night school that was carried on most of the past year through the efforts of Mr. Hammond. The school board furnished the room and lights and the teacher furnished all else. The foreigners rode long distances on wheels to attend this school.

Jasper Osborn and Mr. Morrow discussed the "Blind Pig" and said that the enforcement of law was necessary, that illegal selling can only be done away with by the help of much Christian conscience and moral courage.

Mr. McDermitt spoke for a minute. He said two things were necessary for good government—good officers and good public sentiment—both of which were created by the voters. Every voter must be wide awake, know the men who are coming up for office, find out of they stand for law enforcement and the best things. If so, support them heartily, if not, find some one who does. Those are the privileges of a democracy. Every citizen should stand back of law enforcement. When your public officers have done something good be sure to tell him so.

John Hawley spoke of the petition to close moving picture shows and theaters on Sundays. "Evils are removed only by substituting good in their stead. People cannot be legislated into being good. A state and desire for good must come first."

"Our Dry Campaign" was also the subject of discussion and everyone urged to realize the importance of that work at this opportune time. Many led freely in the discussions which showed that the young people are awake to some of the vital questions of present-day life. As time for the meeting to close drew near the jury was asked to retire and render a decision.

While this was being done, Mr. Paul Stevens, who spoke as a substitute for his wife, talked a few minutes on "Improper Dress and Fashion Mania of Today." He called the attention of the young people to the vast amount of money that is spent on styles and fads which in the end leaves the human heart, not only unsatisfied, but with a moral standard and ideals of life not conducive of happiness and prosperity.

The jury's decision was to the effect that the C. E. is doing some good work, but there is much still to be done, and every member must throw himself into the work with a more decided effort than ever before, and with a determination to live for Christ and righteousness seen in his public and voting life.

A Christian Endeavor "Hard Luck" social was announced for Wednesday evening of this week. All of the young people of the church and their friends are very cordially invited to attend.

The meeting closed with song and the Mispah benediction.

MISSING MAN LEFT SOME DEBTS BEHIND

Fullerton Daily Tribune: A. B. McGuire is the name of a plastering contractor who left Fullerton several days ago and so far has failed to come back. Some of his friends who were not told of his intention to leave or where he intended to go, would be glad to see him again or learn his present address. In fact, they are willing to go to a little trouble to find out where he is now located.

McGuire has been working in this vicinity for several months, his last contract being on the new residence of R. L. Turner, on East Commonwealth. Mr. Turner says he would like to collect what the plasterer owes him for board and forgot to pay before he left. And there are others.

He went away in an auto which he had contracted to buy from the Sifton garage, but to which it is claimed he had acquired no title, having made but a small initial payment.

It is understood that when last heard from he was on his way to Taft. A warrant has been issued and officers are on the lookout for him.

Close Tab on Congress

In an address before the New York Bankers' Association in annual convention, in New London, Conn., on Thursday, Frank A. Vanderlip president of the National City Bank of New York analyzed the business situation of the day, holding that it had become dependent upon political rather than economical factors. He spoke in part, as follows:

"I believe that the lack of enthusiasm about the future, the state of pessimism that surrounds many phases of business, the disposition toward extreme conservatism, the lack of new plans for capital expenditure for railway improvement, and extension, for new industrial conquest, all have their roots in a state of mind, rather than in the statistics of actual business data. The obstacles in the way of business recovery may perhaps be truly described as psychological, and still be a manifestation of sound business sense in apprehending the true meaning of the political situation.

"Now, we watch executive and Congressional action rather than the Comptroller's abstract to gauge the status of banking affairs. The attitude of mind of the Interstate Commerce Commission has become more important than the statistics of railroad traffic. The factors that we have mostly in mind are how new laws are going to work; what new laws are next to be passed; what is the prospect, not of crops, but of Congressional action.

"If such psychological factors could be eliminated for a moment and the old view taken, we would see looming large the prospect of a great agricultural yield, giving promise in some directions of bumper crops now almost assured.

"I do not want to be understood as believing that this state of mind, this quality of public opinion is altogether wrong. The basis that is back of the demand for legislative restrictions and control of business I believe in large measure to be made up of sound economic facts. I believe if business men will get themselves into a state of mind where they view conditions broadly, with a historical and social sense, rather than only from their individual viewpoint, they will apprehend better the direction in which the whole current of political thought is flowing, and will feel less impatience with this legislative movement and vastly less pessimistic concerning its results."

Birth of the Sleeping Car

"Old inhabitants of Central City, Col., will tell you that George M. Pullman got his idea for his sleeping car from the little cabin he occupied near the stamp mill he owned and ran in Russell Gulch when he was a pioneer at that place in the early sixties," says the Wall Street Journal. "This cabin had its sleeping quarters in the form of bunks long the walls to leave more space for the living room. In speaking to his friends of his idea of a sleeping car Pullman said it would look like a cabin with bunks along the sides. In 1862 Pullman left Central City, having made considerable money from his various ventures there. He kept experimenting along the lines of his idea and in 1863 constructed the first sleeping car of commercial value."

The first Pullman sleeping car that ever was sent out from Chicago was in charge of Capt. A. M. Palmer, now a resident of Salt Lake City, and the man who surveyed a railroad line up the Amazon River from its mouth to its head. The sleeper left Chicago over the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, now part of the Pennsylvania System, was side-tracked at Fort Wayne in the morning, where passengers were transferred in day coaches. The second night it was attached to a night train and ran as far as Crestline, Ohio, and so on until New York was reached. The conductors of the Pullman in those days solicited passengers to occupy the sleeper the same as hotels do now.

New Paper Money

When the twelve Federal Reserve Banks open about the first of April millions of dollars worth of paper currency of a new type, known as Federal Reserve Notes, will be put in circulation. As security for these notes commercial paper will be collateral. They will be in denominations of $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100. They will be printed in green and black ink, the latter being the color for the face of the note. The new $5 note is typical of agriculture. The portrait on the face of the note is Lincoln's head, and the back shows a harvesting machine and allegorical figures typical of farming. The $10 note bears a portrait of Cleveland and a manufacturing scene. The $20 bears Jackson's portrait and is typical of commerce, having a steamship, train and other mediums of trade on the back. Grant's head is shown on the $50 note, and Franklin's portrait adorns the $100 bill. Both of these larger bills are typical of the arts.

After Income Tax Evaders

To give Internal Revenue Collectors broader inquisitorial powers into the incomes of those who attempt to evade the income tax, the Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has requested Congress to amend the law and recommends this amendment. "The stock lists of all corporations subject to the tax to be open to the collector and also to give the collectors other powers which will enable them to trace a taxpayer's securities right into a safe deposit vault."

The proposed amendment gives to representatives of the Government the broadest kind of power in examining the books, papers and records of individuals, as well as corporations. Penalties in the form of fines are proposed for persons who fail to supply information as indicated.

Nation Greater Than State

One of the most important cases in which the Interstate Commerce Commission has been involved, in which the power of the commission to strike down State rates that discriminate against interstate commerce was questioned, has been settled by the United States Supreme Court in a decision which upholds the commission. The case at issue grew out of complaint by Shreveport, La., merchants, that the Texas Railroad Commission had shut them out of all Texas business by compelling the railroads to reduce Texas State rates far below what the Interstate Commerce Commission allowed the railroads running from Shreveport to Texas cities to charge. The decision was announced by Justice Hughes, Justices Pitney and Lurton dissenting, and the court first decided that Congress had power to control interstate charges over an interstate carrier to the extent necessary to prevent injurious discriminations against interstate traffic and then held that Congress had conferred this power upon the Interstate Commerce Commission. Says Justice Hughes:

"It is of the essence of the power to regulate interstate commerce that where it exists, it dominates. The fact that carriers are instruments of interstate commerce as well as of intrastate commerce, does not derogate from the complete and paramount authority of Congress over the latter or preclude the Federal power from being exerted to prevent the interstate operations of such carriers from being made a means of injury to that which has been confided to Federal care. Wherever the interstate and intrastate transactions of carriers are so related that the government of the one involves the control of the other, it is Congress and not the State, that is entitled to prescribe the final and dominant rule, for otherwise Congress would be denied the exercise of its constitutional authority and the State and not the nation would be supreme within the national field."

In removing discriminations against interstate commerce, the court held Congress was not bound to reduce the interstate rates below what it may deem to be a proper standard to the carrier and the public. "Otherwise," said the opinion, "it could prevent the injury to interstate commerce only by the sacrifice of its judgment as to interstate rates."

Justice Hughes, who wrote the court's decision in the State rate cases of a year ago, pointed out that the present cases did not conflict with those cases. He said that undoubtedly in the absence of a finding by the commission of unjust discriminations, intrastate rates were left to be fixed by the carrier and subject to the authority of the States. In concluding the opinion, Justice Hughes says:

"We are not unmindful of the gravity of the question that is presented when State and Federal views conflict, but it was recognized at the beginning the nation could not prosper if interstate and foreign trade were governed by many masters, and where the interests of the freedom of interstate commerce are involved the judgment of Congress and of the agencies it lawfully establishes must control."

Railroad President Optimistic

President A. S. Mohler of the Union Pacific Railroad, who has been in California the past week, is optimistic regarding the general business situation. In an interview he is quoted thus:

"There is no question that the business conditions are depressed and spasmodic throughout the country. Nothing feels the effect of depression quicker than the railroads, and we feel it very noticeably. We have a lot of idle rolling stock and plenty of room for more trains on our schedule. But we have become more hopeful regarding the situation, especially locally. The agricultural situation is better than it has been in many years. While the fall crop is not a certainty, it is nearly assured and by July 1st will have crossed the danger line. There is still a large number of men out of employment, but this condition will correct itself rapidly when business conditions become more active. Prosperity and employment come from commerce and agriculture. We have a splendid outlook west of the Missouri River. "We are working through a variety of national problems and at this time there are many who hold divergent views. The future only will tell which are right, and we are waiting to see them tested. In the meantime the Union Pacific is keeping house and making some improvements, but is not engaging in any new ventures or extension work. I was immensely pleased and impressed with the work of Truckee—double tracking of a magnitude not generally realized. The Southern Pacific people seem to be the only railway people who show nerve in spending money under the discouraging conditions we have been contending with. I am specially impressed with this work because it is helpful to the Union Pacific in making progress both East and West of Ogden. "The people in the Missouri Valley ought to be the most religious in the country for they have enough experience with heat. The California climate spoils us all when we get acquainted with it, and we like to get out here among people who are philosophical and natural."

Record for Cotton Crop

All records for early crop of cotton in the United States were broken this week when there was a gin on Wednesday, 17th inst., at Calexico in the Imperial Valley, the first bale of cotton raised this year. The American record heretofore was held by Brownsville, Tex., for a bale ginned June 20, in 1908.

This bale, for which cotton markets will probably offer premiums, runs 36½ per cent lint, or cotton, while 33 per cent is a high average. This means three more pounds to the hundred of raw cotton than the average.

Farmers Demand Power

Twenty-six farmers living west of Hanford and north of Lemoore, in Kings County, have begun a fight to compel the San Joaquin Light and Power Company of Fresno to serve them electricity with which to run their irrigation plants and other machinery. Evidence presented to State Railroad Commissioner Gordon at a hearing at Hanford will be submitted to the entire Railroad Commission at its next session, when a decision will be made in the case.

Natural Gas and the Community

A Government report issued in connection with the natural gas industry of the United States for 1912 shows that a population of more than 8,000,000 depends largely upon natural gas for heating, cooking, industrial purposes, and, to a greater or less extent, for lighting.

STORM WATER DISTRICT SET ON JULY 21ST

It is Believed Proective Work Can Be Done for $10,000

The following review of the situation in regard to the proposed Anaheim Storm Water District is taken from an exchange:

After considerable work on the part of the committee of the Anaheim Board of Trade, appointed April 9 for the purpose of defining the boundary line of a river protection district and securing signatures of property owners favorable to the move, the date for hearing the petition has finally been fixed by the supervisors for Tuesday, July 21, and on that day this question which has been agitated for years and which it is claimed is so momentous to Anaheim and its surrounding country will for the second time come up for decision before the Board of Supervisors.

A month ago representatives of the committee appeared before the board and requested a date for a hearing, but were advised to secure more names to their petition before final action was taken upon it. They procured the additional names and again appeared before the supervisors. The board received the petition and set the date of hearing thirty days ahead. Tuesday, July 21, being the time.

The name of the district petitioned for will be known as the "Anaheim Storm Water District of Orange County." The boundary line begins on North street, Anaheim, follows that street east to the Garden Grove road, thence south to the Ball road. The area is not large but it is believed there will be little opposition inside these lines, the committee being careful to eliminate as much as possible all sections hostile to the move. The

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. ## FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF OCEAN STEAMER PASSING THROUGH THE PANAMA CANAL LOCKS

The first ocean steamer to pass through the locks of the Panama Canal was the Allianca, which made the trip June 8. Photographs have just come to the United States. She left Cristobal at 6 o'clock on the morning of June 8 and steamed slowly through the sea level entrance of the canal to Gatun Locks. There she tied up by the north guide wall until hawsers were fastened to her in preparation for the tow through the locks.

At 7 o'clock the ascent was begun. The tonnage of the Allianca, about 4,000 gross, is so small that the work of locking her up through the three flights or chambers was much the same as that of locking the numerous tugs and dredges that had already made the ascent. The ascent from sea level to the level of Gatun Lake, eighty-five feet above the sea, was made in one hour and twenty minutes. The ship was turned in the lake and then started downward, the lockage from the lake to sea level taking about one hour and thirty minutes.

The purpose of this experimental trip was to try out the electric towing machines before being used in the first trip of a ship through the canal. The machines worked perfectly.

"There was not a hitch of any kind," said Col. Goethals, "and yet the test should not be taken as indicative of the time that may be required to pass a ship through the locks, because the hawsers were all attached before the ascent was begun."

"HOW TO KEEP YOUR DIGNITY," PROBLEM AT VERA CRUZ NOW

VERA CRUZ, June 18.—(By mail to New York)—How to keep your dignity. That seems to be the big problem in Vera Cruz these days. Some folks succeed and some don't. It's hard to hang onto your money, because of the Klondike prices; it's difficult to keep cool; it's even harder to keep clean. But how to keep your dignity, there's the rub.

It's a problem that seems to bother the army and navy officials more than it does common everyday folks. Only the other day General Funston's dignity almost got away from him. He was trying to eat a meal under the sidewalk arcade surrounding the plaza, chatting meanwhile with one of his officers. The newsboys, bootblacks, and souvenir sellers pestered him like flies, in Mexican style and, after being interrupted a score of times, the general suddenly rose, and sent after the flying Mexican urchins, a kick that would have disabled a horse, had it struck home. Everybody under the arcade agreed he was right and was sorry he had missed.

Then there was the case of Captain Stickney, navyman, who was made chief of the port of Vera Cruz. Two busy, hustling chaps named Robinson and Poole from the postoffice department had been hustled across the gulf to Vera Cruz to get the postoffice here into order. The first day, the admiral of the fleet announced to the postoffice that one of his ships would be sailing soon for America; it would carry mail.

"Advise postoffice department when ship leaves," was the message which Poole sent to Captain Stickney of the navy.

Wow! That little message raised a hob with Stickney. It seemed to hit him right square in his dignity. He wrote a letter back to the busy postoffice men.

"When you address me," he said, in effect, "kindly use courteous terms and always place your matter in the form of a request, not an order." Then he signed his name and put all his titles after it.

The postoffice took the matter up with the admiral himself. "The navy is one branch of the government," they pointed out, "and the postoffice is another branch. We've got orders in the postoffice department not to use titles and a lot of courteous words."

but to make all our letters and telegrams as short and concise as possible. That's what we did to Stickney.

"You're right," ruled the admiral. And now the messages that Captain Stickney gets from the postoffice department are shorter than ever with a lot of business in them, but not much balm for wounded dignity.

And there's a lieutenant who had charge of the stub train which used to run out, twice a day, to the gap in the railroad to pick up American refugees from Mexico City. These refugees were always footsore and tired and sick at heart, having left nearly all their possessions behind them in Mexico, and their first glimpse of the American flag, on the train at the gap, always thrilled them.

Some of them were inclined, in the joy of their spirits, to give three cheers for the flag and slap every soldier and officer on the back and call them "Good boys." It was only natural, but the lieutenant couldn't understand it that way. Pretty soon reports began to reach General Funston, from refugees, that after passing through the hands of scores of Mexican officials on the way from Mexico City, the first dictatorial and unpleasant officer they met, was a lieutenant in charge of the stub train. The lieutenant kept his dignity, all right, but by orders of General Funston, who acts like lightning in such cases, he lost his job on the train. There's a soldier chap on the train now who helps the arriving refugees to cheer for the Red, White and Blue, if they want to, and who only smiles, happily, if an enthusiastic American slaps him between the shoulders and says "You fellows are all right."

Even Rear Admiral Sir Craddock, who had charge of the two English ships in the harbor, and who outranks Badger, Fletcher, Mayo and Winslow, has had his troubles, though he took them gamely and with a smile. He walked in "civvy" clothes to an American marine outpost on the beach the other day and was stopped by a sentry, who said: "What's your name?"

"Craddock," answered the stranger. "Well, this is the deadline," said the sentry, not knowing he was speaking to a British admiral, "you can't go any further."

"I don't want to go any further, then," said the admiral, and he turned, smiling, and strode away.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The booming of the dried fruit market on early crop outlook is already showing itself as a reactionary influence and all lines are coming down. The estimated crop of prunes in the Los Gatos and San Jose valleys, in addition to the production throughout the state has jumped from 90,000,000 pounds to 110,000,000 pounds and future delivery stock is selling from 1 to 1½ cents below the opening price. This has also caused weakness in spot stock and a decline on some of the larger grades. The outlook for peach driers is bad. The crop was first estimated below that of last year, but will run over by a very large margin. About 30,000 tons will be dried this year, and the normal harvest should be about 20,000 tons. The likelihood is nearer 20,000 or more. Even the raisin pack is expected to be larger than last year and prices are still holding firm, largely on account of a pretty fair clean-up of the surplus that has been riding for three years. The price for all dried fruits will rule lower this year than last, rather than higher, as was anticipated for a time.

The market on dry beans showed a little weakness yesterday and during last week. Pinks were quoted 10 cents off a hundred and several others may follow a similar slight drop. The surplus on hand is too small to cause any serious declines. New beans will begin to appear on the market in a few weeks, although amounts which will be of sufficient size to create an impression on prices will not come for another two or three months.

There was no change in the egg market here or in San Francisco.
